List of Content

- Home
 - The home of the website is just to display the advertisement to the coffee and Milk tea Shop.
- Products
 - We only select the best-selling flavors that are only available to their store.
- About Us
 - Since we only advertise the product, and unfortunately the owner refuse to give further detail about their Coffee business because of respectful business matters. But Coffee Drip mainly focuses on selling coffee that is on their brand name.
- Contact Us
 - To allow the user easily send their opinions towards the products.

List of Features

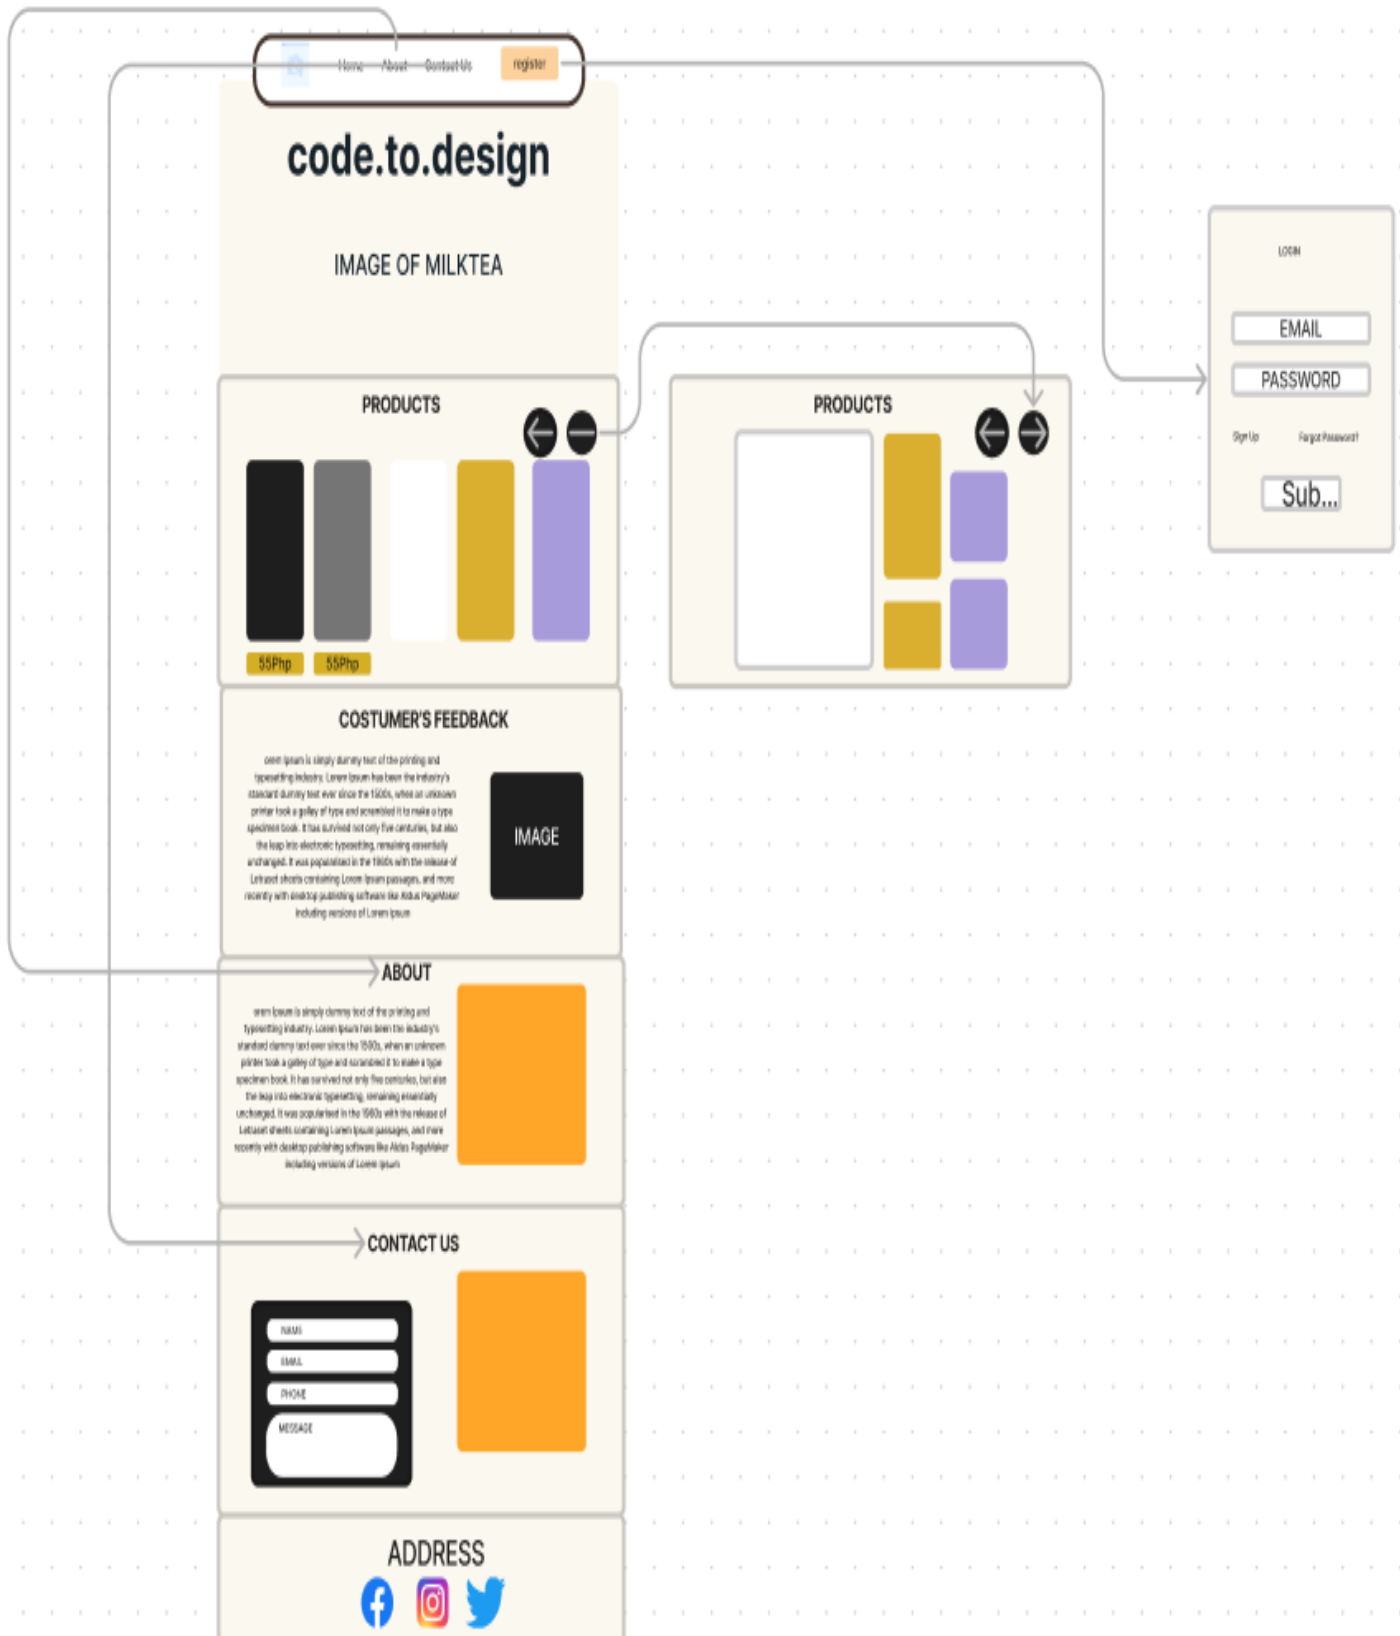

- Commonly the navigation button has Home, About Us, Contact Us, and Sign Up.
- There is new technology like hover effects applied on each product's picture.
- This is a simple commercial website. And honestly, it needs more improvements for the design.
- Its design is far different from commonly website, I prefer design it this way to make some difference to what is commonly have seen in our eyes.

Explanation on how HCI concepts will apply on your webpage

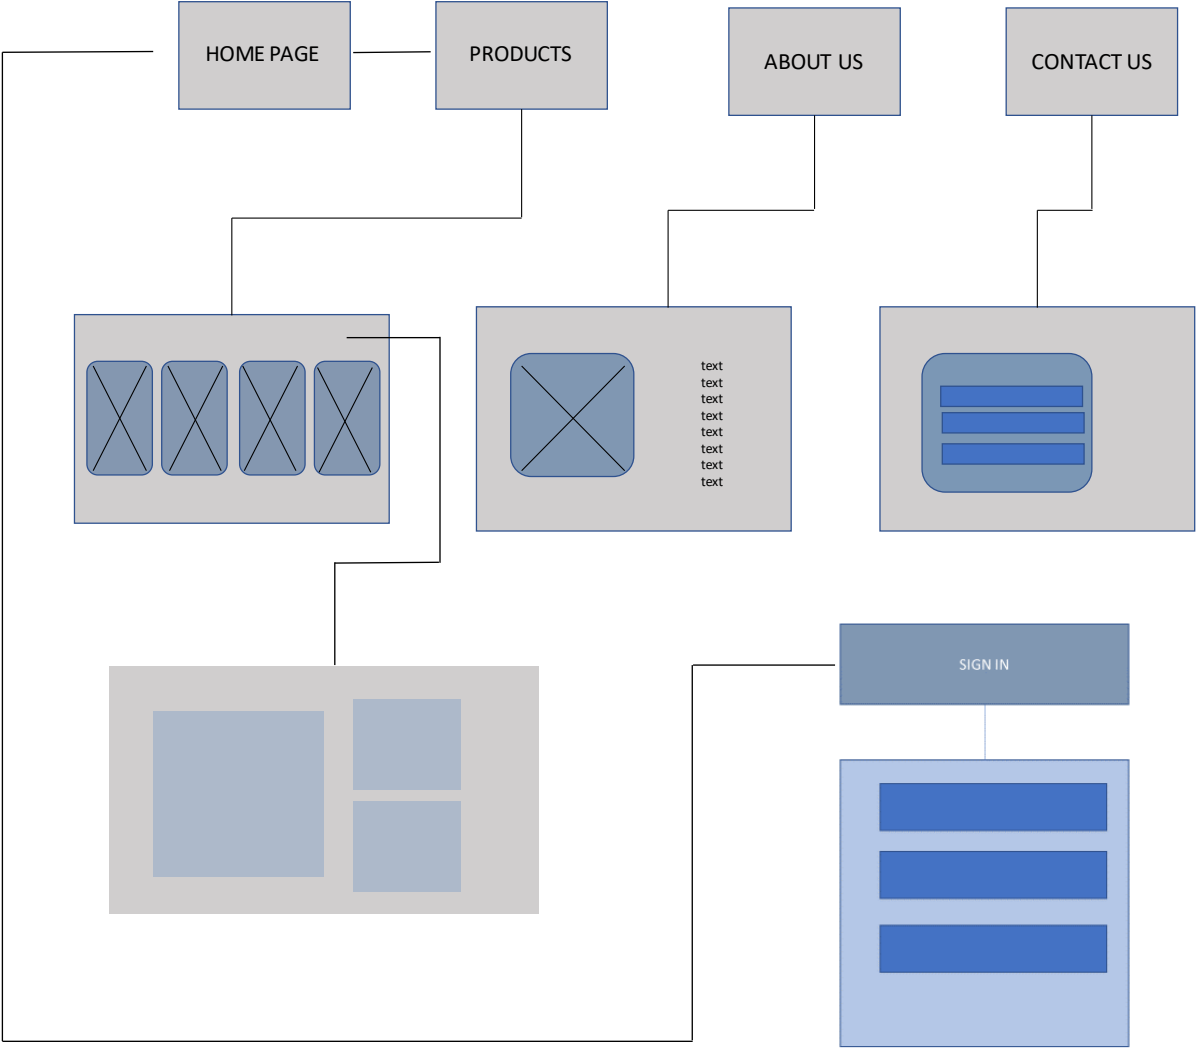

It vastly depends on the designer what is her taste and ideas to capture the eyes of the user. In the application of psychology to varied the color schemes and shapes that will give emphasis on how each element will give impact. In short how your design come to live. And the core concepts of being a UI and UX designer as a professional.
